Advanced Laparoscopic Colorectal Surgery Workshop Using Animal Models

This advanced laparoscopic colorectal surgery workshop intended to provide delegates with the opportunity to practice and enhance their operative skills in this area. In addition to providing a sound understanding of the essential fundamentals and underpinning principles of laparoscopic colorectal surgery, this hands-on, practical laparoscopic workshop helped delegates to consolidate the theoretical knowledge and skills learnt by those that attended the Live Advanced Laparoscopic Colorectal Surgery Course in the preceding two days.

The course, was convened by the renowned Laparoscopic Colorectal Surgeon Prof. P. N. Haray and supported by an experienced faculty. This provided a great opportunity for those who wish to enhance their practical skills and attain invaluable tips to perform laparoscopic colorectal surgery in an effective manner throughout the course.

As this specially developed course gave attendees direct Consultant supervision to perform advanced laparoscopic colorectal procedures on specially prepared animal models for extensive focused practice, including procedures such as:

- o Hemicolectomies
- o Splenic Flexure Mobilisation
- o Anterior Resection

The course was run in conjunction with the Welsh Centre for Minimal Access Therapy (WIMAT) which produces advanced state-of-the-art surgical training models.
