

National Emergency Medicine Conference

Feedback - March 2022

National Emergency Medicine Conference

This event intended to provide delegates with an insight into the fields of both Emergency Medicine and Surgery and to enhance their understanding of important aspects pertaining to these fields. The day consisted of a series of keynote talks. In addition, there were three workshops which aimed to develop and consolidate attendees' practical skills in Emergency Medicine and Surgery.

Aims and Objectives

- o To create interest in Emergency Medicine in Medical Students
- o To allow students to be more engaged in surgical specialties
- o To provide an environment for students to engage with others interested in surgery
- o To allow students to engage in workshops with well renowned doctors

Individual Comments

A very Interesting and fun conference to participate in!

The conference has helped me learn more about emergency medicine. The lectures were engaging, and the workshops helped put the knowledge I have learned into perspective. I have learned a lot from the conference and would definitely go again should there be an opportunity in the future.

This was a good external source of information - I enjoyed learning about the real life situations doctors in emergency medicine are put through and hearing about first hand experiences. I also think the tips and the highlighting of the potential downfalls was very interesting. I also very much enjoyed all the work shops - especially wound repair, it allowed me to practice suturing, it highlighted that i would potentially enjoy doing something in surgery in the future.

Overall, it was well organised and the committee members seemed to be very hard working and caring. The conference was engaging and the environment created was safe and comfortable. To me, it was mainly considered a revision apart from the scrubbing workshop, which is good as revision reinforces the information in the brain so I still appreciate the conference even though I didn't learn a lot of new knowledge.

I believed that the presentations held by all speakers and teaching during the workshop really benefitted me. They were overall very interesting and as a first year medical student who is not as familiar with some of the content, it was very easily understood and well-explained.

I think the lectures and overall conference was quite relevant to my studies. It was understandable and I could see it being applicable to my studies now and in the future. I really enjoyed the workshops especially as it gave me valuable insight into the surgical and emergency aspects of medicine.
