

The KCL Cardiovascular Society Undergraduate Cardiovascular Conference 2018

Feedback - January 2018

The KCL Cardiovascular Society Undergraduate Cardiovascular Conference 2018

KCL Cardiovascular Society's first Undergraduate Cardiovascular Conference aimed to explore various aspects of cardiovascular medicine.

The Conference provided delegates with the opportunity to gain further insight into the field of cardiovascular medicine, covering aspects outside that taught in the MBBS curriculum. In addition, it will offer the chance to network with and meet esteemed Consultants and Doctors in the field.

The day comprised of a series of keynote lectures on a range of disciplines, including Cardiothoracic Surgery, Paediatric Cardiology, Interventional Radiology and Vascular Surgery. Delegates attended a host of interactive workshops during the day, consisting of a mix of wet and dry laboratory sessions.

In addition, there was a poster presentation competition, providing delegates with the opportunity to showcase their research in the field of cardiology.

Individual Comments

It was really professionally organised and the speakers were great.

AI

Workshop were best part of the conference.

SP

Great.

SP

Very interesting and well organised conference. The lectures were nicely varied and relevant. I especially liked the panel discussion.

JR

I really enjoyed it and found it useful.

NC

Very organised, structured, relevant to what we can realistically expect in surgery; very knowledgeable-speakers and workshop profs.

SD

Provided an insight into the field of cardiac surgery as well as what students need to be doing now in order to be successful during the application process.

SR

Excellent organisation of the event, very professional & high standard of speakers.

JS

St George's University

The conference was very good, however the CABG simulation was not interactive...I would have preferred to learn the procedure/dissection myself rather than watching an instructor.

MM

King's College London

Very organised, well explained and interesting.

SO

Good hands on workshops, but lectures not very relevant.

KC

Individual Comments

Good.

DS

Very good conference.

SC

University of Aberdeen

It was great, really inspiring!

MM

It was very good.

JE

I think that the organisers of the conference were friendly and informative about where to go and in aiding us to participate in a workshop, despite us having no prior information on how to gain entry into these workshops. To add to this, the speakers experience which they explained was very detailed and informative but the workshop in particular, interested me.

SY

Really helpful and well organised.

SP

It was good. The speakers were concentrating on their topics and were very organised with their presentations.

AN

It was really good and the surgery videos from Professor Tsang were breathtaking. The Anatomy class was really good as we expanded on what we were taught in school.

AA

Very organised with friendly and helpful staff! Would definitely love to do something like this again.

SP

The conference gave me a great insight into the quality of teaching, and I thoroughly enjoyed the content presented to me as it gave me an opportunity to learn something new. The conference was very organised and the people were helpful and very friendly.

AG

Individual Comments

Worthwhile.

TC
University of Nottingham

The atmosphere was great and everyone was so engaged with what was going on. Very motivating and overall inspiring.

FA

Very well organised and well structured. The day was well planned out. Very relevant talks which inspired my work in biology.

HC

There was a very high standard for the overall event.

SA

Well organised. Teaching in workshop sessions could include a greater explanation prior to the task at hand (especially CABG). Professor Jahangiri very enthusiastic and engaging. Would be useful to have speakers working in cardio-respiratory medicine and anaesthetists. Learnt a lot from the workshops! Relevant conference overall for undergraduate university students.

NS

Well organised, relevant speakers and sessions.
